Representative Joseph T. Murphy, republican, who represents in part the town of Westerly, is coming into the legislative limelight, by reason of his action on statal affairs. At Friday's session of the general assembly there was a lively contest over the proposed amendment of the constitution providing for the abolishment of the property qualifications of electors. Mr. Murphy announced that in voting against the motion, he did so only because he considered the committee on special legislation had not had proper opportunity to consider the important resolution.
